We Lead in Automation

Automation doesn't mean a handful of automatic uploads or alerts. It means advanced integrations across a multitude of controls and instant visibility into your security program. Drata customers report a time savings of 85%+ when compared to handling compliance manually.

We Meet You Where You're At

Drata's solution supports and grows with your business. Whether you're an early-stage company looking to fulfill or comply with SOC 2, ISO 27001, or HIPAA requirements, or an enterprise player seeking to automate an internal security program with custom controls, Drata's constantly growing platform provides the functionality and flexibility you require. All at the highest level of automation available.

We Help You Establish Your Foundation

The Drata platform maps controls across frameworks, allowing you to view all of your controls at once and see how they apply to and overlap with SOC 2, ISO 27001, HIPAA and more. Easily gain compliance across multiple frameworks without redundancy, supporting a comprehensive and continuous approach to your overall security posture.

"Drata is an engineering powerhouse. The solution they've developed is well ahead of other market players, and their approach to deep, native integrations provides users with the most advanced automation available."

Philip Martin
Chief Security Officer at Coinbase

“Drata didn’t build a product they thought the market wanted. They did the work to understand what the market actually needed. This customer-first focus is clearly reflected in their platform’s technical sophistication and features.”

We Provide a Seamless User Experience

Features like pre-mapped controls, dynamic policy templates, HRIS integrations, and in-platform security awareness training have all been built to ensure customer ease and access. And when a control starts to fail, our detailed product dashboard will alert and let users know exactly what needs to be done to regain full compliance.

We Walk the Walk

We believe in practicing what we preach. That’s why we used our technology to gain our own SOC 2 Type 1 and Type 2 report. And we’ve been backed by some of the industry’s top investors, including Silicon Valley CISO Investments, a syndicate made up of the world’s leading CISOs...all executives with a deep understanding of security and compliance.

We’re Committed to Our Customers

Leading in automation doesn’t mean we lose sight of the human side of doing business. We’re committed to supporting, partnering with, and most importantly listening to our customers every step of the way. Check out what our customers are saying at g2.com/products/drata/.
